The Hi-Grade Notino R5500 is the ideal companion for working on the move. The Notino R5500 is not only built to survive the rigours of the road but is tough enough to survive drop testing to military specifications — an achievement normally associated with expensive, bulky, special-purpose rugged PCs rather than slim, lightweight, ergonomic and economically priced mainstream notebooks like the R5500. Powered by Intel® Core™2 Duo technology, this is a powerhouse of a portable. The smart card reader is an added security feature to the standard Windows password ensuring that your data is safe. Another unique feature is the RS232 serial port still required in some industries for controlling external equipment.
